HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence
Like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I
was doctoring
for kidney and
liver trouble,
but without benefit.
Just before
I began using
Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed.
I could hardly
stand on my feet
because of the
numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

Pete's Turn.

Farmer John was a tight old wad
ever since New England's soil;
He couldn't keep a hired man;
His motto was, "get every cent you can."
Hired men came and went their way,
He had a new one every day,
Till finally Peter came along.
Red headed, witty, bushy and strong.
The old man offered him big pay;
If he'd hire out for a month, and stay;
He'd agree and started in.
The old man crowded him like sin.
Set him to hauling wood to town,
Hauled on miles, up hill and down,
Pete made three trips. Those winter days,
Hauled home grain, had a load both ways.
Still one old man wasn't satisfied,
"I've got myself all turned round now."
"All right," says Pete, "You show me how."
"Last night when I was coming in,
I met myself startin' out again."
The old man was mad, "By Heck 'you'll go, Three turns as night if I say a good word."
"I do now," says Peter, "jest about."
"Turn in, turn over, and then turn out."
Back to him, Old HUTCH.

Storyettes.

A Vain Wish.
A few years ago, there lived a woman in one of our small country towns, who lived on many miles around for her size and good nature. She was what some call a "light weight" and would tip
the scales to three hundred.
This bachelor maid was well liked by the people of the community where she lived, and one day one of her friends invited her to spend an afternoon with her and to remain all night. The invitation was readily accepted and a very pleasant afternoon and evening was enjoyed.
At a late hour the party retired and quietness reigned throughout the household.
All sleep soundly until about three o'clock, when the bachelor maid, upon waking decided to turn over; not thinking but what she was in her own bed, put one hand against the wall, the other against the bed and gave a shove to turn herself over, as was her custom. Suddenly the bed, which was supplied with cast-ers, gave a swerve and deposited her upon the floor.

The host and hostess were aroused from sleep by the crash and trembling of house. They seized a lamp and hastened to the guest chamber. Upon investigating they found their guest flat on the floor, cast between the bed and the wall. "What has happened?" exclaimed the hostess much distressed.
"Oh, I only tried to turn over and when I pushed against the wall, the bed flew out from under me. O, I was so scared,
I were't larger than the eye to a needle."
Was the vain and disgusted wish of the maid.

Wanted to be in the swim.
A little fellow came into one of Norway's dry goods stores shopping. He was bubbling over with suppressed excitement. He could hardly wait to give his written order to the clerk whom he knew before he hastened to say, "Neva has got the chicken pox and the whooping cough. Her temperature is one hundred and two and she can't hardly get her breath."

"You must be having a hard time at your house," said the clerk "You must be careful not to take the disease."
"I am going to next week," he said, "his face fairly radiant with smiles of joy."

With Fear and Trembling.
"Come, Marion, and slide some more!"
said a little Norway boy. "You slide so good, but it makes me dizzy when I get a few rods and run to the ice to get a good start. She stood up and slid to get a good start. The little girl went back to the same starting place and went with great fury and speed till he got on the ice, then dropped on his hands and knees and went across that way.

Humbleness Hath Its Reward.
"No, I never associate with my infer-iors. Do you?"
"Really, I can't say. I think I never met any."

Nursery Rhyme Literally True.
A little girl was riding on the Grand Trunk the other day and there happened to be a well-known Englishman sitting on the seat in front of her. Now everyone knows that children have a way of saying their nursery rhymes again and again with no apparent reason only the sound of the jingling words. "Fee, fo, fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman!"
announced this little girl.

Her father tried to direct her attention away from this, but every little while "Fee, fo, fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman!" would sound out in the childish voice.

Back to the People.

The initiative and referendum simply means bringing the government back to the people. It vests in the people the right to give positive instructions to the legislature to enact certain legislation.
It also vests in the people the right to annul objectionable legislation that may be enacted. And lest this privilege be abused it is safe-guarded with stipulations requiring a vote sufficiently large to show that a proper proportion of the people is in the matter to have the right of exercising the judgment. Under the initiative and referendum no chronic fault-finding element is placed in the position of being able to stir up a rumpus whenever it is disposed. At the same time it effectually divests legislative oligarchy of the power to kill a bill by railroad through legislation for selfish ends.

The Paragraph Pulpit.

BY EDWIN A. RUMBLE.

This is to be my last "paragraph pulpit," the time has come to say farewell to my many friends who have expressed to me their pleasure and profit from the weekly homily. I began the paragraph and the paper has inserted it because I was an independent minister and the paper could not be charged as favoring any one church. My own work here in Waterville represented three leading denominations in these parts. This nomi-nality independency is now at an end and in order not to compromise the paper, the "paragraph pulpit" must end also.
I have accepted an invitation to succeed
Dr. W. C. Gannett at the First Unitarian Church, in Rochester, New York, hence
I am now a member of that church.
Be not sad, be thoughtful, be good.
Let your life be your creed, and your love for your fellows your religion.
Boast not that you are certain of anything, but hope for the best. Complain of nothing and no one and believe that all things will happen for good. Take nothing for granted, prove all things. Bebu no one, but be yourself. Do all things whether reading, working, worshipping or playing, dancing, singing, with a spirit of cheerfulness, good-will and sincerity.
Last of all, some will want me to recommend two or three interesting books where they can follow for themselves some of the things I have tried to teach from week to week. The following can be obtained at any good book-store.
Tiviana's "Churches and Modern Thought," $1.00. Published in London.
Rev. J. H. Chamberlain, $1.25, and any of the works of my good friend,
Chas. F. Dole, such as "The Coming People," "The Theology of Civilization,"
"The Spirit of Democracy."
"Trust in the Lord forever,
For in the Lord, the Eternal, there is everlasting strength."

and your chances kinder slim,
If the situation's puzzling
and the prospects awful grim,
And the world keeps pressing
and the world keeps pressing,
Till all hopes are dashed to naught,
Just 'bristle up, and grit your teeth,
And keep on keeping on.

Every Rheumatic Invited Today

To Test and Try a 75c Bottle of Urice-O at Our Expense.
If there are still any sufferers from Rheumatism in this county or wherever this paper reaches, that have not tried the wonderful Rheumatic Remedy, Urice-O, we want them to try it now at our expense. We don't believe there is not a case of Rheumatism in the world that will not yield to the wonderful bottle of Urice-O, and we want to give it to every sufferer out right to every sufferer and let him test and try it to his own satisfaction. If you or any of your friends suffer from this most painful and distressing ailment, send your name and address, also the name of your druggist, to the Smith Drug Co., 250 Smith Block, New York, N. Y., and they will send you a 75c bottle free. There is no reservation to this offer. You take the remedy home and use it according to directions until you are fully satisfied of its merits.
We could not afford to do this if we did not know that after you are freed from this dreadful disease that you would recommend it to all your friends who have rheumatism. We know from one person to another is the most valuable advertising, and that is the way we intend to acquaint the world with Urice-O. Send for drugs at all over this country, and we want you to have a bottle free.

Successful Entertainment.
Under the auspices of The Village Improvement Society, The Bryant Pond Dramatic Club gave a very successful entertainment Wednesday evening in Grange hall.
The program consisted of a drama, followed by a social dance. Between the acts of the play, specialties were presented. An excellent musical program was rendered by local talent. The drama, a five-act comedy entitled, "The Country Minister," was presented by the following cast:
Rev. Ralph Underwood, the country minister.
Clarence C. Cole, Gregory Heath, of the world at large.
Ned I. Swan, Jud Farnes, a wreck on the ocean of life.
Elijah D. Cole, Timothy Hodi, who would rather whistle than work.
Daniel G. Hayes, Deacon Botter, just a trifle deaf.
William Henry, a young man of the city.
Tom Sparrow, an office boy.
Mr. Filkins, an office boy.
Helen Burleigh, from the city.
Gertrude M. Deshon, a young woman of the city.
Laura E. Newell, a young woman of the city.
Annie King, a young woman of the city.
Bessie L. Cole, a young woman of the city.
The action was unusually good, the work of Laura Newell as "Roxey" deserving especial praise. A large audience attended, and the profits, which will be used for local improvements, were more than satisfactory.

Plan to Fight Disease.
Druggists Will Battle Stomach Troubles in Norway.
The increase of stomach troubles in Norway has led Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Norway Drug Store, to take effective measures to combat the disease. He has the local agency for Mi-o-na stomach tablets, and in order to induce people suffering with weak stomach or indigestion to use the remedy, offers to supply it with the distinct understanding that money will be refunded in every case where it does not cure.
Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive, but an absolute strengthening and builder-up of the whole digestive tract. If you suffer with headache, giddiness, palpitation, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, coated tongue, distress after eating, use Mi-o-na and see how quickly these symptoms of a weak stomach will disappear.
The remedy strengthens the muscular walls of the stomach and increases the flow of gastric juices so that nourishment is extracted from the food and the refuse is expelled without the aid of purgative or laxative medicines.
Remember that Frank Kimball gives a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. He takes all the risk, and there is no danger of your losing anything except indigestion when you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na.

FRUIT NOTES

The pear is ready to pick as soon as the color begins to change and the stem will part readily from the branch. The ripening process should then be continued indoors in a dark room, which must be cool for slow ripening and warm for quick ripening.
The best way to pick peaches is to look over the trees a number of times and pick specimens when just in the right condition.
Pick the plum trees over repeatedly, taking off each time only those fruits that are right for market or use.
Prune the old wood and part of the new out of the current bushes and take young shoots for cuttings if desired.
Use new barrels for apple packing or boxes if in favor in your market. For pears, peaches and plums let your packages be of the best, up to date and suited to the preference of your particular market.
Seven years' study of the prevalence and injuries of the fruit spot or scab fungus on peaches at the Ohio experiment station confirms the popular opinion that this fungus is influenced in its development by the amount of rainy weather during the late summer and early fall.

SELECTING SEED CORN.

Carefully Choose Ears That Nearest Approach Perfection.

The ideal ear of corn is not the one of greatest length or diameter, but is described as being "about ten inches long, with grains deep and wedge shaped, set in twenty-four rows as straight and uniform as soldiers on parade and as thick at the tip as at the butt." The ears of this character that are exhibited at corn shows are, it is claimed, the result of years of careful breeding and scientific cultivation.

Yet, having these characteristics in mind, ears approximately perfect are to be found in every well cultivated cornfield, and these should be carefully selected and stored for seed, from which, year by year, the standard of quality may be raised and the yield per acre increased.

Until very recently but little attention was given to the selection of corn for planting. It was thought that if the germ was vital the plant would produce as well from a misshapen seed as from one that was entirely symmetrical and from an ear on which the rows were crooked and the kernels somewhat scattered as from those that were straight and close set. Careful study has ascertained, however, that these minor characteristics are as readily inherited as the more important ones of the proper proportion of grain to cob and of gluten to starch and protein in the kernels.

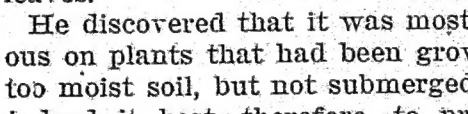

Uniformity in size of ear and in set of kernels, in weight, length and diameter of ear is desirable not only for their intrinsic value, but because where machinery is used for husking and shelling the latter can be most easily and satisfactorily employed upon grain that is not too diverse in these matters.—Farm Progress.

CELERY BLIGHT.

More Frequent in Plants Grown on Very Moist Soil.

The celery plant is subject to two or three blights or rusts which check its growth and injure its appearance, which is very important in a vegetable used as much for a table ornament as for an esculent.
Among the worst of these diseases is the development of watery blotches along the veins and edges of the leaves. These were supposed to be due to the presence of minute nematode (eel-like) worms, working between the upper and under cuticles. Later, however, it was discovered that they were caused by a species of bacteria.
Dr. Halstead of the New Jersey experiment station made some years ago a very careful study of this disease and found that it generally began in the center or heart of the plant, from which it spread to the expanding leaves.
He discovered that it was most serious on plants that had been grown in too moist soil, but not submerged. He judged it best, therefore, to prevent the appearance of the disease by growing the plants in rather dry soil and only occasionally irrigating them with pure water.
Spraying with bordeaux mixture or with fungicide powders has been recommended as checks; but, as a rule, bacterial affections are not curable and must be cut out.

Corn Well Displayed.
In selecting corn for exhibit at a state or local fair farmers should take only perfect and uniform ears. Frequently corn is ruined for exhibition purposes by being handled carelessly. One of the neatest ways of showing small lots of corn that we have seen is shown above. This was first prize lot grown, selected and put up by J. L. Keckly of Ohio. Here is a hint for farmers in general, and the suggestion may prove helpful. The husks are turned back and tied as represented in the picture, says American Agriculturist.

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect it.
Prevalency of Kidney Disease.
Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease.
While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.
What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up often during the day and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.
You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

THE WOMAN IN MASONRY.

Why She Is so Highly Excluded.
Noting the prominence of woman in the various fraternal societies—the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias, the Wood Army, the Modern Woodmen—as auxiliaries, or otherwise—some have wondered why the fair sex do not figure in Masonry, of which their husbands, fathers, brothers are honored and devoted members. On the face of the proposition it does seem right queer. But there are reasons for the exclusiveness. One of the best we have seen was given many years ago at a great Masonic celebration in Texas, and among Masons has been generally regarded as Orthodox. Said the speaker:
"Women sometimes complain that they are not permitted to enter our lodge and work with the craft in their labors, and learn all there is to be learned in the institution. We will explain the reason. We learn that before the Almighty had finished his work he was in some doubt about creating Eve. The creation of every living thing had been accomplished, and the Almighty had made Adam (who was the Mason) and created for him the finest lodge in the world, and called it Paradise, No. 1. He then caused all the beasts of the field and the fowls of the air to pass before Adam for him to name them, which he had to do alone, so that no confusion might therefore arise when Eve was created, whom he knew would make trouble if he created her beforehand.
"Adam being much fatigued with the labor of his first task, fell asleep, and when he awoke he found Eve in the lodge with him. Adam being Senior Warden, placed Eve at the pillar of beauty in the South, and they received their instructions from the Grand Master in the Blue Lodge, when finished, she immediately called the Craft from labor to refreshments. Instead of attending to the duties of the office as she ought, she left her station, violated her obligations, let in an expelled Mason, who had no business there, and went around with him, leaving Adam to look after the jewels. This fellow had been expelled from the Lodge, with several others, some time before. But hearing the footsteps of the Grand Master he suddenly took his leave, telling Eve to go to making aprons, as she and Adam were not in proper regalia.
"She went and told Adam, and when the Grand Master returned to the Lodge he found his gavel had been stolen. He called for the Senior and Junior Wardens, who had neglected to guard the door, and found them absent. After searching for some time he came to where they were hid and demanded of Adam what he was doing there, instead of occupying his official station. Adam replied that he was waiting for Eve to call the Craft from refreshments to labor again; and that the Craft was not properly clothed, which they were making provisions for.
"Turning to Eve he asked her what she had to offer in excuse for her unofficial and un-masonic conduct. She replied that a fellow passenger himself off as a grand lecturer had been giving her instructions, and she thought it no harm. The Grand Master then asked her what had become of his gavel. She said she didn't know unless that fellow had taken it away.
"Finding that Eve was no longer trustworthy, and that she had caused Adam to neglect his duty, leaving her in charge, he expelled her. The Grand Master closed the lodge and turned them out, setting a faithful Tyler to watch the door with a flaming sword. Adam repenting of his folly went to work like a man and a good Mason, in order to get reinstated again. Not so with Eve—she got angry about it, and commenced raising Cain.
"Adam on account of his reformation was permitted to establish Lodges, and work in the degrees, and while Eve was allowed to visit in the lodge of charity outside yet she was never again to be admitted to assist in the regular Lodge work of the Craft. Hence the reason why a woman cannot become an inside Mason."

Court Crier Hammond.

Death of Henry E. Hammond for Over 42 Years Court Crier of Oxford County.

Henry E. Hammond, for over forty-two years crier of courts of the Oxford county supreme judicial court, passed quietly from this world Monday night. He retired apparently in his usual health but before morning came the body was cold in death.

Mr. Hammond lived with his son, Henry D., on the Hammond farm which is situated about a mile east of Paris Hill. He was born on this farm Sept. 12, 1857, and has lived there his whole lifetime.

Mr. Hammond's great-grandfather, Capt. Benjamin Hammond, was the thirteenth settler in New Gloucester. During the sixth and last of the war he and his wife Sarah went into the blockhouse on Paris hill for greater safety and remained there until the danger was over. Capt. Hammond was a great hunter and Indian scout. His son, Benjamin, Jr., settled in Paris. His wife was Rebecca Smith of New Gloucester. One of their sons, Ezra, married Betsey Towne of Albany and settled on the old homestead. He died March 22, 1893, leaving three children, George F., Henry, Edwin and William O.

The subject of this sketch has held many important public offices. He first served his town as town clerk for fifteen years, was selectman for two years. Next he served two terms in the State legislature. For three years he was president of the Oxford County Agricultural society. In 1880 he was census enumerator for Paris.

Mr. Hammond married Adeline Chase, daughter of Rev. Sibley Chase, and they had five children, four of whom are living. In religious matters he was a Baptist. In politics he was a republican and has served his party faithfully. Without doubt he was the most familiar figure in the courts of Oxford county, having probably witnessed more trials than any man in the county or maybe in the State. He received his appointment as crier in 1893 and with one or two short intervals has held the office ever since.

Twice Mr. Hammond has been especially honored by the court. In 1903 he was given a handsome gavel by the judges, members of the Oxford county bar and court officers. Later he was requested to have his picture hung in the law library with those of the famous members of the bar.

The news of his death came as a great surprise to everybody as Mr. Hammond has been in quite good health this winter and had only suffered with a cold a short time. Monday afternoon Mr. Hammond went to the home of his nephew, Frank Hammond, but did not stay long. On his return to his own home he complained of not feeling well but would not have a physician and went to bed soon after. During the night his wife was awakened by the groans of her husband and he died soon after she reached the bed.

He leaves a wife, a son, Henry D. Hammond, a former selectman and member of the legislature, and three daughters.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock from his residence, Rev. J. W. Chesbro, pastor of the Baptist church at South Paris attending.

HARTFORD.

Mrs. F. W. Palmer, who had an ill-turo, is better.

T. E. Ryerson has sold his apples to Daniel Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Barrows were in Lewiston last Saturday.

A Mr. Hammond has moved into the William Crockett house.

Mrs. O. E. Turner visited Mrs. L. A. Keene two days last week.

Frances Benson has been with her sister, Mrs. James Gammon.

J. E. Thompson is hauling pulp wood to the East Sumner station.

David Tinkham has been sawing ice for several farmers in this vicinity. It is of excellent quality.

Harvey and Ellis Russell of Massachusetts have been guests of their sister, Mrs. Orasmus Bartlett.

Mildred Keene visited her parents over Sunday. She returned to Bethel on the 6 o'clock train Monday morning.

Mrs. James Billings, who has been under the doctor's care, is improving in health. Her niece, Ellen Harper, has been with her.

NORTH HARTFORD.

Minnie Carter is on the sick list.

Maurice Carter is getting his ice.

Mrs. Charles Hutchinson fell on the ice hauling her sled.

Perry Davenport bought a pair of yearling steers of Walter Farrar recently. He thinks they are good ones.

Daniel Fletcher has bought a few lots of apples for $1.00 per barrel including the haul. That is pretty cheap for this time of year.

When the Hair Falls

Stop it! And why not? Falling hair is a disease, a regular disease; and Ayer's Hair Vigor, as made from our new improved formula, quickly and completely destroys that disease. The hair stops falling out, grows more rapidly, and all dandruff disappears.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

The little book in each package gives the formula of our new Hair Vigor, tells why each ingredient is used, and explains many other interesting things. After reading you will know why this new hair preparation does its work so well.

HARRISON.

Twitcomb-Weston.

The wedding of Anne Ray Weston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Weston, of Harrison to Mark Antony Twitcomb of Milan, N. H., took place on Jan. 14, at the parental home of the bride.

The ritual was pronounced by Rev. Percival F. Marston, pastor of Pine street Congregational church, Lewiston. Little Evelyn Wight, daughter of Mrs. Geneva Dorman Wight, was the flower girl. Mr. Western, the father, gave away the bride. The marriage bond was signified by an exchange of rings.

As the ceremony commenced Mrs. Gertrude Weston of Bolster's Mills played the wedding march on piano from Longbein. Invited guests to the number of about thirty were present, being relatives and intimate school friends of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Twitcomb is a graduate of Bridgton Academy and Bates college. As a teacher of youth she was deservingly named in some of the public schools in Maine and New Hampshire, her last year being as teacher of elocution in the Portland high school. Mr. Twitcomb is the son of Mrs. Leonora and the late Cassius Twitcomb and the successor in business of the firm of Twitcomb & Blanchard, manufacturers and dealers in lumber.

The bridal party departed on the same evening train to Portland. Their wedding itinerary will include the principal cities to Washington, D. C., thence to Los Angeles and other cities on the Pacific coast. They expect to be at home to their many friends by May 1st, at Milan, N. H.

Mrs. Georgia Parker is no better. She has been unable to lie down for some time.

D. D. F. W. Brown and assistant installing officers of Kezar Tribe of Red Men went to North Fryeburg and Fryeburg Center, Tuesday and Thursday evenings of last week to install the officers of Red Men in those places.

Sherman McAllister met with a serious accident last Tuesday while chopping in the woods. A large chip flew and struck him just below the eye cutting through the lid and penetrating the eyeball. Mr. McAllister was alone and not thinking the cut serious worked several hours before going home. He took a severe cold in the wound and it is badly swollen and painful at present.

The ladies of the Congregational circle at the Center gave an oyster supper at Odd Fellows hall, Jan. 15 and a fine supper was served to about 125 people. Later the following program was rendered:

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Band Concert and Ball.
The dancers and music lovers enjoyed a real treat Friday evening at the Norway Opera House, the occasion being the first annual ball of the Norway Cadet band.

When the band of twenty pieces, at a little past eight o'clock, "struck up," the concert march, there were good sized crowds both on the floor and in the balcony. The concert program follows:

Concert March, Entry of the Gladiators, Fucik
Overture, Post and Pessant, Suppe...
Saxophone from Lund, Denmark...
Grand National Fantasia...
Tone pictures of the North and South...
Duet for trombone and cornet, Woodard and Whispers, Losey... Watson and Knapp March, Jack Tar, Sousa.

Go where you may, you'll not find in town of Norway's size, nor in many larger towns, a band that can come up with our band when it comes to furnishing music that is music.

For the grand march some forty couples took the floor and others occupied the seats and joined in the frolic later.
Floor manager Ursula Gammon with Bertha Haugen led the march. The music for the order of fourteen dances and three extras was furnished by the band. At intermission ice cream and cake was served by Ed Rich and assistants.

The Pellet Gracilis.
The next number of Rhodora, the official publication of the New England Botanical society, will contain the announcement of Walter Bacon's discovery of the slender cliff fern in Maine, the botanical name being Pellet Gracilis.
Heretofore Connecticut was the farthest known northern station for this fern.

The plant was found by Mr. Bacon in the town of Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hathaway spent last week in Boston.

Orin Edgemoor and family have been visiting at John Saunders' at Mechanic Falls.

Last year 190 dogs were licensed in this town. The year before that it was a few in excess of that number therefore the number of dogs in town are decreas-ing.

Arrangements are being made to have
H. F. Moulton of Portland give a lecture illustrated by stereoscopic views at the Universalist church in the near future for the benefit of the choir.

Will Shank, who has been at McCall's Ferry, Pa., working for a construction company as a machinist, has gone to Schenectady, N. Y., where some construction work is to be done. He is putting in a machine shop plant and is to have charge of it as foreman.

been calling on political friends and making acquaintances in this county at the past week. He was in Norway Friday evening, having come from Rumford Falls. He wants to be the next Republican candidate for governor and we venture the guess he will have some support from this county even though this is the birthplace of the "Pebesette Straddle" which is more or less popular with some of the republicans of this vicinity.

The Delmar and Mack vaudeville show at the Opera House, Thursday evening had a fairly good attendance. Delmar, the magician, performed the mystical feats of making money, cards, balls, gold watches, doves, rabbits, and divers and sundry things appear and disappear at his pleasure. People are interested in things they don't quite understand and this was especially true of the boys of the audience. Mack sang his songs and danced in a manner to receive encores, and his illustrated songs were made very plain by the views thrown on the screen. Their picture machine was somewhat faulty,
but after repeated trials and some coaxing it started. The pictures were so good that the people staid to see the finish and regretted that some of the first were so dim and hazy that they had but a faint idea of what they might have been.

Amable Martin.

Supposed to be Buried at Andersonville,
Died at Lewiston, Wednesday.

The death of Amable Martin occurred yesterday at the Sisters' hospital where he was taken five days ago. Mr. Martin who was 76 years of age, lived alone in Milton when he was taken sick. He died rapidly until his death. He had no relatives hereabouts but at the hospital told one of the Sisters that he had three sons and a daughter, and that one of his sons lived in California. He served in Company G, 11th Maine, in the Civil war.

The above was seen in a paper by Capt.
Thomas Clark, clerk in the office of the adjutant general at the State House, Augusta, and brought back memories of the Civil war. The 11th Maine Infantry was Capt. Clark's old regiment, and the notice of the death of Mr. Martin was somewhat of a surprise to him inasmuch as the records in the office of the adjutant general state that the man died in Andersonville prison, Va.

Capt. Clark knew the man Martin well, and remembers perfectly the details of his capture before being sent to Andersonville. Martin was a member of Co. G, but his name was Amable and not Amable, as stated in the above paragraph. There was another member of the same company named George Peaquette, who enlisted with Martin, both being French Canadians, and the latter was captured at the same time.

The men were captured on the night of June 18, 1864. The regiment at that time was at Bermuda Hundred, Va.
Both were on picket duty on the south side of the James river, just below a place called Derry bluff, and one night in question Capt. Clark was officer of the guard. Martin and Pequette were both rather raw in the art of warfare and the Confederates had but little trouble in stealing up and taking them prisoners.

After their capture they were taken to Andersonville prison, and according to the records Martin died there, but if the man who died at Lewiston, Wednesday, and the one mentioned in the history of the 11th Maine Regiment are one and the same and they seem to be, it is probable that there was a mistake made in the records.

Children's Column.

Dear Editor:—I have written to this paper once before. The letter was printed, so I'll try my luck again. I am seven years of age. I have light hair, gray eyes, weigh about fifty pounds and am about four feet tall.

I have two little cats. Their names are Tiger and Beauty. They are awful cute.
I have three sisters. Their names are Estella, Grace, and Hazel. Grace is a subscriber of the ADVERTISER. We like it fine. We have a Victor talking machine and forty-six records. They are all nice ones, too. I should like to correspond with some little girl about my age.
I will be glad to answer. Well I guess I will close for this time. I will come again if this is printed. Good-by.

Yours Truly,
EFFIE MONROE, Diamond Farm,

Riddle:—Love I sit, Love I stand, Love
I hold fast in my hand. Love 's blind, Love can't see, I can see Love but Love can't see me? Answer this please.

It Didn't Work.
"The late Sam Small had his faults," said an Atlantic, "but he did not dodge the penalty of them. When he went wrong he owned up like a man, and if punishment was due he took it."

"That was the doctrine Sam Small preached. He hated dodgers. He used to laugh bitterly at the plea of hypnotism that used to be put up by nearly every murderer."

"I once heard him ridiculing hypnotism. He said that he brought pretty heavily one year for Christmas, and when the bill came in for turkey and mince meat, candy, ducks, chickens, plum pudding, fruit cake and so on he thought to himself that there was a case for hypnotism to be tried."

"He went first to hypnotize the grocer. Approaching the man, he looked him squarely in the eye, at the same time repeating slowly and impressively:

"My bill is paid."
"A change came over the grocer's face. His color faded, his eyes grew dull, his expression blank, and in a strange, mechanical voice he muttered:
"You're a liar."

In the Poultry Yard.
The hens that pass their molt early
are the ones to keep for early winter layers.

In selecting breeders for market stock only broad, full breasted birds should be chosen.

Sundowner seed will help to hasten the molting of fowls. Lined meal is also useful for the same purpose.

Ducks are not subject to cholera or roup, and lice do not trouble them at all.

Geese are adapted to wet lands and do well if supplied with good pasturage and plenty of water.

Fall Seeding of Grass.
In some parts of New England fields are frequently seeded to grass in the fall. This is done without any crop and in some cases is found to be more successful than spring seeding along with a crop of grain. This work should be done in August or early in September on ground well prepared—that is, made of fine tilth, smooth and well fertilized. Where this system works well there should be good success with the crops of hay to follow, as they will have the entire benefit of the fertilizers applied, remarks American Cultivator.

Everybody ought to do more business in 1908 than 1907. The year is one day longer.

If Sebago lake does not freeze over at all, how will it be settled regarding the date of beginning the fishing there in the spring.

It was a real philosopher who said that the wisdom of the wise man looks like the hole in a doughnut when the small boy begins to ask questions.

Dead Yet Seen at Window.

"Why did Uncle Sumner stand up there at the window? Why did he not come down into the yard with the rest of you?"

"My dear niece, your Uncle Sumner had been dead four months when this picture was taken."

And then the widow of Sumner Sessions, a well known resident of Bryant's Pond, recently deceased, proceeded to tell her frightened niece a story which though only whispered about, has shaken this little village to its foundations. Many, many people believe that the restless spirit of Sumner Sessions is watching over his family and has actually been made manifest.

The story briefly told is this:
Some 18 months ago Sumner Sessions, a lifelong resident of Milton, bought the handsome place known for years as the Chase place on the edge of Bryant's Pond and brought his family there. In the fall of 1906 his health began to fail and during the winter he was steadily growing worse. For weeks before his death he passed his time in standing at the window, dressed in a frock coat which buttoned to his chin and with his almost bald head bent down watching the passersby. In May, 1907, he died, and immediately troubles arose over the property, for though often urged to make his will, he had died without doing this. But the widow, therefore, was as left as comfortably cared for as otherwise might have been done.

In September of 1907, a traveling artist came to this village and took pictures of several places and people, including the Sessions house. He went away and in due time sent his pictures to his customer. When Mr. Sessions opened them she was shocked beyond measure to see at the upper window of the room, unused since Mr. Sessions' death, what she declares to be a perfectly plain and recognizable picture of her late husband in his familiar attitude, gazing down on her in the garden. She said nothing to anybody, but a chosen few relatives showed the picture without remark.

In every case the same recognition has been made, and the effect has been startling. Although pledged to secrecy, the story leaked out and there are two opinions on the matter. Many firmly believe the picture to be Sessions, himself.
Others think some shadow upon the drawn curtains produced the effect.

The experiment has been tried over and over to locate some tree, or reflection, which shall produce the thing again;
other pictures have been taken, even of the house, but nothing unusual appears on the plates.

Those who knew Mr. Sessions best are firmest in the recognition of the picture, though any casual glance at the picture shows beyond dispute the outlines of a man at the window. Many stories are afloat concerning the matter, but the picture stands for itself. So far as possible the family are reticent about the matter, though they insist that it is no chance reflection, but a real picture of their husband and father, who had died four months before the artist made the exposure that September day. They insist that the pose, the white head inclined down, the frock coat buttoned tightly to the chin and the wasted hands are as clear to their sight as any other detail of the picture. And with magnifying glass, the features come out distinctly.

So the matter stands: is it a strange reflection, or is it the spirit of Sumner Sessions which gazes down from the window whose future they have cause for distress?—Bangor Weekly News.

Where Cooking Is a Job.
Here are some figures from a lumber camp up in Greenwood which give an idea as to the appetite of hungry woodmen. There are 35 men in this crew and the cook reports that he makes each day 300 large biscuits, 150 doughnuts, 36 pies, bakes six quarts of dry beans with potatoes, vegetables, etc., in proportion.

A large beef creature is eaten every five days. There is something to be explained in that item of 36 pies daily for 35 men. Probably the boss gets the extra one.

Dogs with Artificial Legs.
In England dogs which have been so unfortunate as to lose a leg are frequently provided with artificial ones, and are enabled to skip about merrily on them.
Even the canine pets of the poor are being made of a serviceable wooden leg being made for about 50 cents. The spirit of kindness is noticeable in this country. In Michigan there is a sanitarium where dogs alone are treated, and as many as 200 are under treatment at once, and they are surrounded with every comfort.

Capt. F. C. Barker, proprietor of Camp

trip south this winter as usual. He will probably visit Palm Beach before he returns.

One great trouble with the true stories of the nature writers is that the tellers seem to think that a sprinkling of lies judiciously mixed with the truth is needed to make the stories sufficiently interesting.

If a woman does not get married this year, it is her own fault. What if she does ask once, and he refuses, or should ask twice and be refused. Remember that old saying, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again" and keep on trying. It is a blessed privilege belongs to the woman this year.

This woman says that sick women should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she did.

Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence
St., Denver, Col., writes to Mrs.
Pinkham:

"I was practically an invalid for six years, on account of female troubles.
I underwent an operation by the doctor's advice, but in a few months I was worse than before. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to perfect health, such as I have not enjoyed in many years. Any woman suffering as I did with backache, bearing-down pains, and periodic pains, should not fail to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration.
Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice.
She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Prevention Better Than a Cure.
The absence of snow this winter has been generally bemoaned but it has been great larks for the skaters. Never has there been a winter when this sport has been more generally enjoyed in this vicinity than the present one. And it has not been confined to the boys and girls, either, but many a man and woman has put on the skates for the first time in years and glided joyously over the frozen coxes and rivers. Some have even essayed to do fancy stunts with skis or have succeeded, but all have come home exhilarated and glowing.

There is no reason why the present craze for out-of-door life should not extend into the winter season. The pure, cold air of January is the best of tonics to the system and the sports of winter
are no less delightful than the tennis, volley and base ball of the summer season.
Let the good work go on. It's worth more than all the sanitariums in the world for the stamping out of the source of consumption and other bodily ills. An ounce of prevention is still worth many pounds of cure.

A Comforting Philosophy.
It is better that right should prevail than that "our side" should win. Provided that "our side" is in right it is best that it wins; but if "our side" is wrong our defeat is better than the winning of wrong.

Steady, girls, just wait for three months before proposing. Prospects will then be brighter, and not so much need for coal.

AGRICULTURAL TEACHING.
 Definite Technical Training For Activities of Farm Life.
 By Dr. E. W. ALLEN, office of experimental stations.
 Elementary agricultural instruction was one of the prominent subjects of discussion at the forty-fourth annual convention of the National Educational association, held recently at Asbury Park, N. J., and it enjoyed the distinction of special mention in the annual address of the president of the association, delivered to thousands of teachers at the opening session. This was perhaps all the more significant as coming from the superintendent of schools of New York city, Dr. William H. Maxwell.
 Dr. Maxwell commended the teaching of agriculture in public schools in strong terms, pointing out its advantages to the people in rural communities and to the nation as well in the greater efficiency of its agricultural population. He declared the teaching of agriculture in a practical manner to be just as necessary for the rural school as manual training is for the city school.
 Most important of all, however, was the report of the committee on industrial education in schools for rural communities. The committee, which was appointed at the meeting in 1903, consisted of L. D. Harvey, chairman, superintendent of schools of Menominee, Wis.; L. H. Bailey of Cornell university, Alfred Bayliss, state superintendent of public instruction in Illinois; W. F. Cunningham, state superintendent of public instruction in Missouri, and W. M. Hays, assistant secretary of agriculture.
 In general the committee maintained that the rural schools, which train nearly one-half of the school population of this country, should recognize the fact that the major portion of their pupils will continue to live upon the farm and should provide specific, definite, technical training fitting them for the activities of farm life. It adduced strong arguments in support of this position and emphasized the educational value as well as the practical utility of courses of study framed with this end in view.
 But the committee called attention to the difficulties of securing the efficient teaching of agriculture with the present organization of our public school system. It discouraged the wholesale introduction of agriculture in country schools having only a single teacher. To require by law that every country schoolteacher shall give instruction in the elements of agriculture is in the judgment of the committee a serious mistake. It will simply result in another failure to be added to the failures recorded in France, Ireland and Canada. Such failures are likely to discourage further immediate efforts and prevent the present undertaking of what might otherwise be done.
 Dr. A. C. Luce stated that enough had been done to show that such instruction could be made successful in elementary and secondary schools and that it only remained to work out a feasible plan for the general introduction of agriculture into the rural schools.

Buckskin Sam Tells Bear Story.
 At the Story-Tellers Club dinner in New York during the sportsman's week, many and strange were the tales unfolded, but it remained for old Buckskin Sam, whose great grandfather's middle name probably was Ananias to everybody "one better."
 Sam is a hunter and guide from Haines Landing, where he was born over seventy years ago. Here's the substance of Sam's tale:
 He was out hunting with a Sportsman in 1900. They went from Byron on a deer hunt. Sam had four bullets in his rifle and carried a hunting knife. They had gone a long distance without getting anything when the sportsman suggested that they separate. Sam said all right, but in that case each would keep what he got.
 Then Sam strolled along, pausing long enough to shoot a rabbit. That left three bullets. Remember, dear reader, these three bullets. Then Sam took out his trusty watch and saw that it was just six minutes to twelve. As he put his watch back into his pocket, he heard the snap of a twig behind him, and turned to face five large bears. Remember the three bullets.
 Buckskin shot the biggest bear dead. He then turned his attention to two others that were almost upon him, and "bamstrutted" them. That left one bullet and two bears. No, dear reader, incredible as it may seem, Buckskin did not "bamstrut" the other two bears with the last bullet. He merely killed the fourth bear with his bullet, and then soaked the fifth bear on the nose with the butt end of the rifle.
 This naturally discomfited Mr. Bear and then came the inevitable paw to knife struggle between the two, man and beast. Buckskin sustained severe contusions on the "wig," but he didn't mind that in the least, and finally, just as the bear had about taken a death grip on him, Buckskin sank the knife to the hilt in the bear's and was immediately stained with the bear's dying gore.
 At this moment, Buckskin heard the whistle of a far-off mill that always sounded at twelve o'clock, and he knew that he had killed the five bears in exactly six minutes. Buckskin brung the five bears home, but he'll be ding-swizzled if he just remembers what he did with that tuere rabbit what he shot.

Danger of Catarrh.
 Unless Properly Treated with Hyomei, Becomes Serious.
 Catarrhal troubles are far more dangerous than they seem at first thought. If you have catarrh, there is an irritated state of the mucous membrane and weakened tissues which afford an ideal lodgment and culture medium for disease germs, especially those of consumption.
 You should get cured as quickly as possible before any dangerous germs that you may breathe lodge on the diseased tissue and work destruction in the throat and lungs.
 The easiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to cure catarrh is by the direct method, breathing Hyomei. This wonderful medicated air treatment does not drug and damage the stomach, but is breathed in, directly following and destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled.
 The unusual way in which Hyomei is sold by Frank Kimball, Prop. of the Noyes Drug Store, is the best evidence of his confidence in the treatment and should dispell all doubt as to its curative properties. He agrees to refund the purchase price to anyone whom Hyomei fails to benefit, and you do not risk a cent in testing its healing virtues. A complete outfit costs but $1.00 if it helps you, not a cent if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

THE GARDEN KEYBOARD
 These are the days to search fields and woods for shrubs and herbs suitable for a wild garden or for planting in garden borders or yard.
 Get up the petunias and other border plants that are to be used for winter window gardening before the frost nips them. By cutting off the tops of these and keeping them cool and shaded for two weeks a fine new growth will be started.
 Prickly or winter spinach will stand very severe weather if lightly protected with straw or hay and is a good kind for autumn planting.
 Gather winter squash before it is injured by frost.
 "Handling celery" should be promptly attended to. This is the drawing together of the leaf stalks (that tend to spread apart) and keeping them in an upright position by pressing earth firmly around them.
 Plant hardy perennial onions for bunching in the spring.

Peaches in South Missouri.
 It is claimed that southern Missouri is well adapted to peach growing, since grovers are able to market their fruit just after the southern crop matures and before the northern crop comes on the market, the only rivals at this time being the peaches from Delaware and Oklahoma. Most of the fruit in southern Missouri is sent to eastern and northern markets.

 A very pretty home wedding occurred at the residence of Isaac Hall, in Tanton, Mass., in the north part of the town, Friday evening, Jan. 10, when his second son, Clarence, was united in marriage to Lucretia K. Brook of Harrison, N. H. K. Gleason performing the ceremony. Miss Brook was at one time a teacher in the Gilmore school. The young couple will reside on Center street.

Norway People with Weak Lungs Need Vinol.

Many people inherit weak lungs which are likely to be attacked by consumption. So also are lungs weakened by disease or by a stubborn hacking cough. No matter what the cause, Vinol strengthens weak lungs and gives one the power to throw off wasting diseases. The reason that Vinol has such power to deal and strengthen is because it contains a highly concentrated form all of the curative, medicinal and strengthening elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with the useless, nauseating oil eliminated and tonic iron added.
 So sure are we of what Vinol will do that we ask every person in Norway suffering from weak lungs, stubborn hacking coughs or any wasting disease to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails. Frank P. Stone, Druggist, Norway, Me.

Fryeburg Academy.

The winter term began Jan. 7, with an attendance of eighty-five students. The senior drama which was postponed from the fall term will be given in about two weeks. The title of this play is Higbee of Harvard, and it promises to be one of the best dramas given by the students of recent years.
 Arrangements are being made to engage a teacher of calisthenics from the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, for the remainder of the winter.
 Walter J. Crandall, captain of the base ball and foot ball teams, has recently been operated on for appendicitis. He is now improving rapidly and it is believed that he will be able to captain the team in the spring.
 Friday afternoon a mass meeting of the students was held to discuss the question of a gymnasium for the academy. Speeches were made by the teachers and several of the students, and it was finally decided to give a series of entertainments to raise what money was possible, to be put aside to be used for no other purpose than for a gymnasium. It is believed that if a fund is started, even though it is small, it will receive contributions from the later classes and older alumni and soon enough money will be received to warrant starting the building. A gymnasium is one of the sore needs of the school. The academy hall has served for several years for this purpose but it often has to be used for other purposes at times when the students want it for their gymnastics.

HEBRON.
 Hebron was Gold.
 On the evening of Friday, Jan. 17, the people at Bethel witnessed one of the most exciting basket ball games ever played on their floor. After came in the afternoon and at a little past 8 the game was called, but not without much disagreement on the part of Bethel, who were opposed to having Mr. Horton of Hebron referee. This was finally settled by giving Gould the umpire. Then the game commenced. Such lively playing on both sides rarely is seen. Gould led Hebron by six points at the end of the first half.
 The townspeople of Bethel much to their discredit, made the first half most disagreeable, by their boisterous and insulting shouts and jollings, but Coach McGraw of Hebron in a few direct and pointed words put an end to it.
 The second half was straight basket ball from one end to the other, each team playing for every point there was in them. Keough, Welch, Wilson and Soule did some most remarkable passing and throwing some of the prettiest goals. Keough dropped one ball into the basket from nearly the length of the floor, a shot rarely seen at any game. The Bethel boys did well, too, making many nearly as remarkable plays.
 At nearly the end of last half time was called and McGraw changed a few of his men, and with half a minute to play and the score 22 to 21 in Gould's favor the game started again and each playing as was seen in that half minute can rarely be paralleled.
 On the same instant that the timers rose with time up Welch of Hebron dropped a ball into the basket making the score 22 to 21. This would have then made the score 25 to 22 in Hebron's favor. But this was not allowed by Gould and even before the final decision the Bethel boys set their chapel bell to ringing and claimed the game.
 Gould feels that if they can do as well as they have they will be ready to meet Hebron on the return game on Hebron's floor, and Hebron feels that when they get Gould in the home "gym" that things will look different. So those who winter their game at Bethel on Feb. 14 will see one of the most interesting outcomes of Maine Interscholastic sports.

How Her Life Was Saved When Bitten by a Large Snake.
 How few people there are who are not afraid of snakes. Not long ago a harmless little garter snake fell on the wheel of an automobile which was being driven by a woman. The woman promptly fainted and the car, left to its own resources, ran into a stone wall and caused a serious accident.
 The bite of a poisonous snake needs prompt attention. Mrs. K. M. Fishel, Route No. 1, Box 40, Dillsburg, Pa., tells how she saved her life when bitten by a large snake.
 "On August 29, 1906, I was bitten on the hand twice by a large copperhead snake. Being a distance from any medical aid, as a last resort I used Sloan's Liniment, and to my astonishment found it killed all pain and was the means of saving my life. I am the mother of four children and am never without your Liniment."

Good Roads.
 'Good roads are only good when they are good the whole length, like a chain they are only as strong as the weakest link. Loads are governed by bad spots or steep hills to be gone over. Moral—no use to put on two tons in Waterford, if one and one-half is all that can be drawn through the mud of the lake road. One-half ton less weight makes just fifty cents less earnings, which multiplied by the number of teams going over this road, which may be more or less per load according to distance traveled, will make quite a respectable sum, which is a needless loss, as there is no reasonable excuse for this road being almost impassable at certain seasons. The conditions may be a little more difficult to handle, but to men who know how to build roads there would be no insurmountable obstacles to be overcome.
 When C. E. Adams built the Congregational church edifice he did not hire a blacksmith to oversee the work, and when a farmer wants his horse shod he does not hire a cobbler to do it. Then why should towns continue to hire men to make roads who really know no more about the work than either of the above mentioned, about the building churches or shoeing horses, be they ever so successful in their chosen work.
 However no one has a right to expect to hire skilled men to do work at day laborer prices, the honor is all right but will not buy bread and shoes, and the man who is competent will not consider the job an instant.
 Common business intelligence will allow that the oversight and expense as teams and laborers. If the road commissioner needs a blacksmith, he pays the wages demanded, or a carpenter the same and no one objects, but if he should happen to know how to build roads and could earn twenty dollars per week, he must not charge over ten fifty. This, however, is improbable as he would not touch the job anyway. So the farmer, laborer or whoever happens to be needed takes the job and does his best and takes the "onus" from all hands who could do no better themselves.
 A better way to do this work would be to vote the money for highways and allow the salary to be drawn sufficiently large to hire a thoroughly competent man, in or out of town, and then tell him to go ahead and make the road as it should be.
 If we can build one-half mile of permanent road per year we are that much ahead, something that has never been done yet.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY.

Molasses, Olive Oil and Anodyne Cures the Worst Colds.
 At this season of the year, when a cold on the lungs is so liable to develop into fatal pneumonia, it is worth while to know of a simple prescription that has been used successfully for years in curing colds and preventing pneumonia. Most of the ingredients are in every home or can be obtained at trifling cost.
 Mix well together four tablespoonsful of molasses or honey and one tablespoonful each of olive oil and Anodyne. A large bottle costs but 35 cts., and is sold everywhere under a guarantee to refund the money unless it gives satisfaction. Made by The Twichell-Chatpman Co., Portland, Me.

BRYANT'S POND.

Pythian Installation.

Fraternal Lodge, No. 118, Knights of Pythias, of this place held their semi-annual installation in their hall on the evening of Jan. 18, with Clarence Cole presiding officer in the chair, who was re-elected for the ensuing term. Three grand officers were present. The mode of work was somewhat changed from the usual order of installations as the work was alternated with the program of entertainment.

Walter L. Gray, esq., of South Paris was the installing officer assisted by several from the Grand Lodge. Mr. Gray's manner was very easy and the ceremonies very impressive.

Two notable recitations were those of Mrs. Elsie Wade Jackson, which were rendered with the striking enunciation and lifelike gestures which are characteristic of her readings and which always hold the interest of her audience; and Alden Chase, 2d, better known as Ted Chase, who as a boy gained local reputation for dramatic recitations and pleasing stage appearance, and as a student of Gibbon Academy has won the speaker's prize.

Next was a song by Dannie Hayes, which was well rendered. And particularly interesting was the talent displayed by our young musicians, Duke Thompson, violinist, aged 13 years, and Laura Newell, pianist, aged 14 years. Although the violinist was very weak from a recent illness and collapsed after leaving the hall and is now suffering a relapse, the violin solos with piano accompaniment were rendered in a way that was a credit both to the children who did the work and their trainers, Mrs. James Day and Gilman Whitman.

Next came the piano duet by Eva Andrews of South Woodstock and Laura Newell, which was very pretty and the work exceedingly well done.

And last but not least came our local band, which we all appreciate, enjoy and are interested in as many of its members are our own town boys, and we believe in recognizing and acknowledging the talents of our home people instead of being blinded by envious jealousy and petty criticisms which often keep us from seeing their true worth and superiority.

The hall was well filled with the Knights of the friends so there was scarcely room for the stand. After the work was finished all went to the dining-room in the Grange hall, where a supper of baked beans and brown bread, pickles, cheese and all kinds of pies and cakes were served. The tables were filled several times but there seemed to be an unlimited supply of food. The night was perfect and a general good time enjoyed by all.

A Boy Violinist.

Perhaps the youngest violinist in this section for Maine at least is Duke, the 13 year old son of E. J. Thompson of this place. At his first appearance in public before the audience was kindly disposed toward him and generally interested in him.

The boy reads music readily and has a considerable depth of musical feeling, which means as he grows in his art he will play in a richer and mellower style, and will seize upon and hold the hearers with greater power, although he has his work now with a self possession and dignity rarely found in one so young.

He is under the careful training of Gilman Whitman, who is well known for his musical abilities and who takes a kindly interest in the boy.

Ethel Ford of Yarmouth was here last week calling on friends.

Duke, son of Edward Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with pneumonia, Saturday.

H. H. Crockett's summer cottage was broken into last week. Moccasin tracks were all the clue found.

Archib D. Felt was in Auburn, Wednesday evening, to attend a special communication of Tranquil Lodge of Masons.

Remember that there is to be a three weeks mark-down sale at Libby's store, the sale commencing Friday, Jan. 24th.

Stephen Rowe, our oldest resident, has been quite ill the past week, also Master Robert Johnson and Narcisse Panneton.

Christian Science services are held in the parlor of Mrs. Laura Stephens' home every Sunday at 11 a. m. Jan. 26, subject, truth; golden text, Rev. 15:3; responsive readings, Psalm 26.

The school in the Chase district taught by John Hodgdon of Bates college will close Jan. 24, with an entertainment given by the pupils in the evening. A program of interest has been planned and it is hoped there will be a good attendance, as the amount taken at the door will be used in the purchase of books for the school library.

LOCKE'S MILLS.

The Faithful Few.

In spite of the severe wind and intense cold of last Thursday evening, the faithful few were present at the V. I. S. whist party held with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bartlett, and all enjoyed a pleasant evening, as they did also the hot coffee and cake before their cold walk home. The winners for the evening were Mrs. D. B. Grant and F. E. Purinton, first; Mrs. F. E. Purinton and F. A. Frost, second. The next meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Grant, Jan. 30. All are cordially invited.

Irving Leighton is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Purinton.

Irving Penley spent Sunday with his parents at West Paris.

The office of E. L. Tebbets & Co. has been piped for steam heat.

Vesta Woods visited relatives at Bethel, Friday night and Saturday.

Mrs. Lena Rand is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. E. Merrill, at West Gardiner.

Mrs. W. W. Coolidge is caring for her father, Mr. Noyes, at his home in the lower part of the town.

A number from here attended the Pythian Sisterhood installation at Hanover last Friday evening.

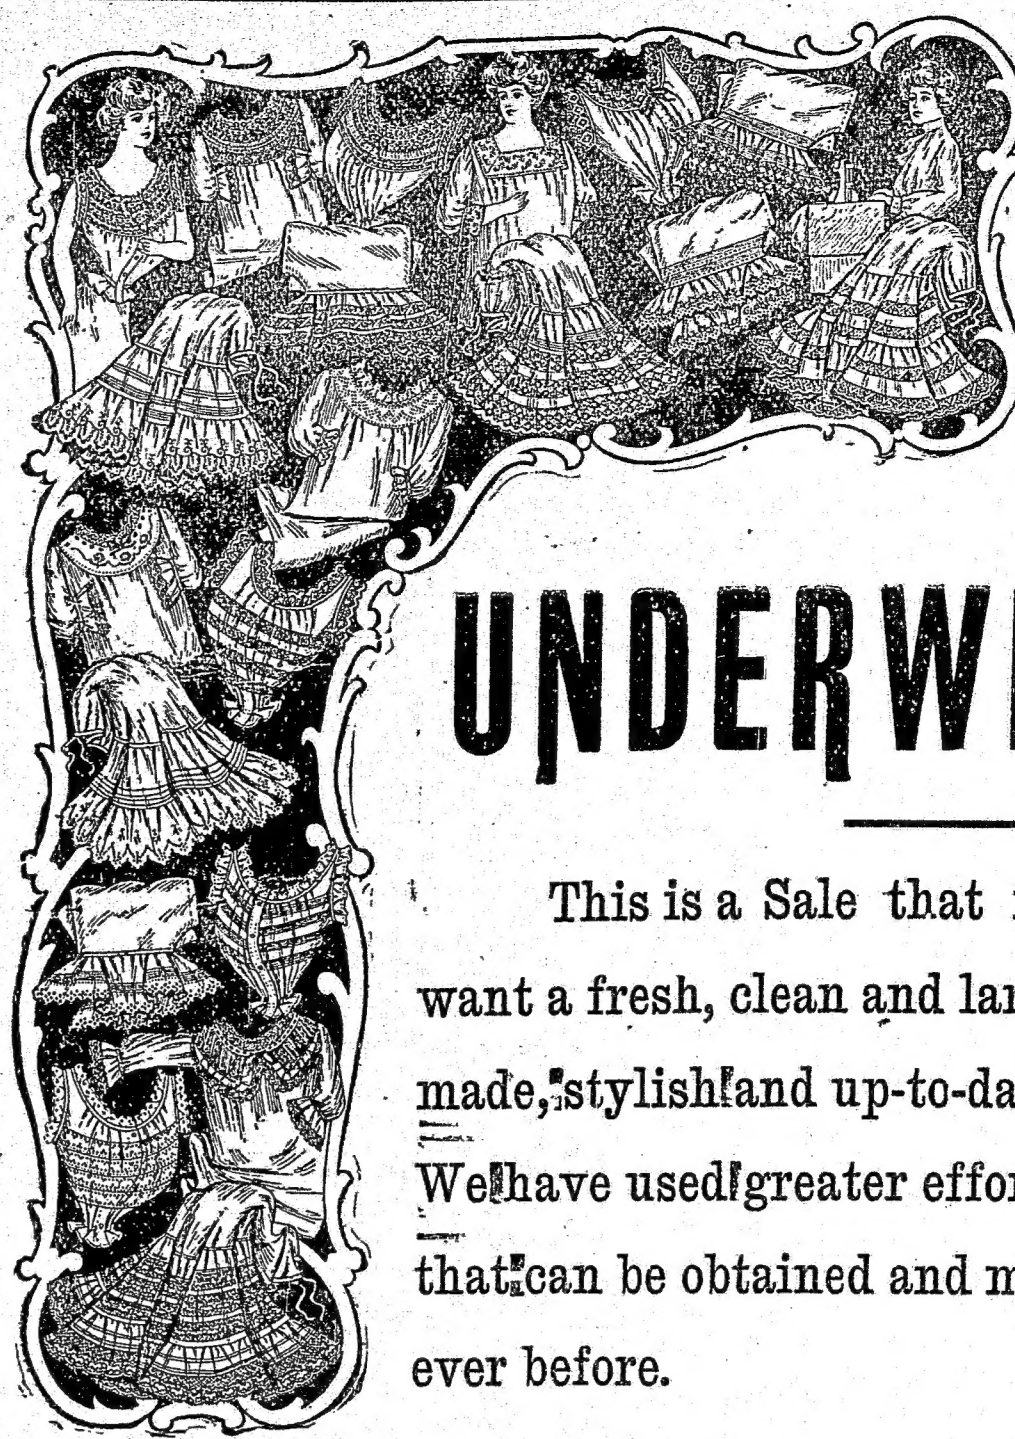

Mrs. W. R. Swift was called to Curtis Corner the first of the week by the severe illness of her father, E. E. Rand.

B. C. Finbanks returned from Portland and Winslow Mill, Monday night, where he has been visiting friends.

Remember that there is to be a three weeks' mark-down sale at Libby's Store, Bryant's Pond, the sale commencing Friday, Jan. 24th.

Mrs. A. B. Bryant is suffering from a severe attack of the grippe. Mrs. C. R. Bartlett and Mrs. C. E. Stowell are also on the sick list.

A first and second team of basket ball has been organized with Irving Penley,
